

Edible Gardens: Women and Horticulture in Latin America (1880s-1920s)

Dr. Vanesa Miseres,
University of Notre Dame

Vanesa Miseres is Associate Professor of Spanish at the University of Notre Dame. Her areas of research are 19th Century travel writing, war literature, women writers, gender, cultural, and food studies. She is the author of Mujeres en tránsito: viaje, identidad y escritura en Sudamérica (1830-1910) (2017) and the co-editor of Food Studies in Latin America. Perspectives on the Gastronomarative (2021).

Sponsored by:

UCDAVIS

DEPARTMENT OF SPANISH AND PORTUGUESE
DEPARTMENT OF FRENCH AND ITALIAN
DEPARTMENT OF MUSIC
GENDER, SEXUALITY AND WOMEN'S STUDIES
GRADUATE STUDENT ASSOCIATION
DAVIS LANGUAGE CENTER
HEMISPHERIC INSTITUTE ON THE AMERICAS
GLOBAL AFFAIRS

Friday April 12, 9:00 am
Robert Mondavi Institute
Sensory Lab